

ANGEL FIRE VODKA

FROM the blazing fires of our small batch distillery comes a Texas born original.

Angel Fire Vodka is named after a village in New Mexico, where the sunsets are so dramatic that the local Native American tribes once called them the “fire of the gods” and this was our inspiration to create a vodka that is equally unforgettable.

Angel Fire Vodka rewards you with heavenly purity and smoothness, but also delivers a touch of devilish good times.

❖ Distilled in hand hammered copper still to ensure purity.

❖ One-of-a-kind proprietary blend of grains.

OUR vodka is hand crafted in small batches under the watchful eye of our master distiller. We use the purest aquifer water in the world and a proprietary blend of grains from the Great Plains. To achieve our unbelievable smoothness we distill Angel Fire Vodka five times in a hand hammered copper pot and column still.

❖ Five times distilled in small batches.

❖ Distilled in San Antonio with Texas Pride.
